

TOWER RISES

A tower donated by the Mersey Tobacco Research Institute in Kempt to the North Queens Fire Association has now been erected. The crew is shown installing a newer antenna and cable, which improves the association's paging capabilities. Assistance in completing the groundwork and erecting the tower was also provided by van dyke's Trucking and Excavation, N.F. Douglas lumber products and the Liverpool Fire Department.

TOWERING DONATION

The Mersey Tobacco Research Institute has donated a radio tower to the North Queens Fire Association. Association members are shown here dismantling the radio tower. They plan to replace the current tower behind the fire hall with this one. The association wishes to thank the institute for the donation.
